Course Description and Goals

This course is designed to introduce students to the knowledge base, ethical orientation, practical skills and research focus required of clinical psychologists. Students will learn about the professional components of the field, including training models, codes of conduct, and regulatory aspects of the profession. The course will cover applied skills involved in assessment, diagnosis, and therapy. A number of theoretical models of therapy will be discussed. Students will also be introduced to empirical research on topics discussed. This course has both a lecture and lab component.

Prerequisites

Psychology 312 – Experimental Design and Quantitative Methods for Psychology, and Psychology 385 – Abnormal Psychology

Evaluation

Component	% of Grade	Material	Date
Quiz 1	15%	Chapters 1-4/Lecture material	October 5
Quiz 2	15%	Chapters 5-9/Lecture material	November 2
Quiz 3	15%	Chapters 10-15/Lecture material	December 7
Term paper	15%	Requirements described below	November 16
Take home final	10%	All course material	December 14

Each quiz will consist of short answer and written answer questions. Only assigned textbook chapters and lecture material prior to the exam date are eligible to appear on the exam. If a quiz is missed it can only be made up following the provision of a Physician/ Counselor Statement, otherwise a grade of 0 will be assigned for that exam. iPods, iPads, computers, books or notes are not allowed during in-class quizzes.

There will be a cumulative take home final exam, posted on D2L on December 7, due December 14.

The term paper must be written using APA 6 format and should be between 15 to 20 pages in length (typed, double-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman Font, 1-inch margins), not including a cover page, figures, tables, and references. The specific topics for this paper will be provided in class and assigned to students, but are negotiable if alternative topics are suggested by students and deemed appropriate by the instructor. The purpose of this assignment is to evaluate the efficacy of a specific psychological treatment and/or assessment method. This will involve a review of the literature and the use of research evaluation guidelines, which will be provided in class. This paper will be worth 20% of the final grade and is due on November 16, 2015, which you will hand in during class time to your instructor or place in the green box outside of A255 by the end of class time on November 16, 2015 (electronic copies will NOT be accepted). Late assignments will be accepted, but there will be a penalty of 10% per day (24 hours), including weekends. This assignment will be discussed in more detail during the first week of classes and a longer description of the requirements will be posted on D2L.

Lab components:

Component	% of Grade	Date
Thought paper	10%	Due in your lab November 3 or 5
Individual Presentation	15%	As determined in lab
Participation and attendance	5%	Each lab session

The lab component is worth 30% of the final grade. You will be provided with a lab syllabus with TA contact information, office hours, tentative schedule, and assignments. The thought paper will consist of a brief paper of between 5 and 7 pages in length (typed, double spaced, 12-point font), which reflects your own thoughts about, or reactions to the one or more of the topics presented in the laboratory. References, including empirical papers or books are welcome, but internet references (e.g., Wikipedia) should not be used. Papers are due at the beginning of the lab and should be given to the teaching assistant (TA). Late assignments will be accepted and should be put in the green box outside of A275, however, the penalty will be 10% per day, including weekends. Emailed assignments will not be accepted.

Presentations will be given individually during the last 4 lab sessions and will last approximately 15-20 minutes (final amounts will be discussed in lab). Detailed information on the presentation content will be provided in the lab outline. In general, it will involve presenting on a particular disorder or a therapy. The presentation is required for the lab, it is not an option. If missed, presentations can only be made up with Physician/Counselors Statements, otherwise a grade of 0 will be assigned for the presentation.

Students are expected to attend labs regularly and to participate in discussions. For every lab, each student will receive a mark for participation in class exercises and discussion. Normally students will not be able to make up marks for missed labs. More specific details regarding grading and expectations will be discussed in class and posted on D2L. Students must achieve a passing grade on both the class and lab components to pass this course.

Students must achieve a passing grade on both the class and lab components to pass this course.

Department of Psychology Grade Distribution Policy

The distribution of grades in Psychology courses (the percentage of A grades, B grades, etc.) will be similar to the distribution of grades in other courses in the Faculty of Arts. The Department monitors the grade distributions of 200-, 300-, and 400-level courses in the Faculty to ensure that the grade distributions in Psychology courses are comparable. Based on these reviews, students can expect that 1) up to 30% of grades in 200- and 300-level psychology courses will be "A" grades (A+, A, and A-), and 2) up to 40% of grades 400-level psychology courses will be "A" grades.

Department of Psychology Criteria for Letter Grades

Psychology professors use the following criteria when assigning letter grades:

A+ grade: Exceptional Performance. An A+ grade indicates near perfect performance on multiple choice and short answer exams. For research papers/essays/course projects/presentations, an A+ grade is awarded for exceptional work deserving of special recognition and is therefore not a common grade.

A, A- Range: Excellent Performance. Superior understanding of course material. Written work is very strong in terms of critical and original thinking, content, organization, and the expression of ideas, and demonstrates student's thorough knowledge of subject matter.

B Range: Good Performance. Above average understanding of course material. Written work shows evidence of critical thinking and attention to organization and editing but could be improved in form and/or content.

C Range: Satisfactory Performance. Adequate understanding of course material. Knowledge of basic concepts and terminology is demonstrated. Written work is satisfactory and meets essential requirements but could be improved significantly in form and content. Note: All prerequisites for courses offered by the Faculty of Arts must be met with a minimum grade of C-.

D range: Marginally meets standards. Minimal understanding of subject matter. Written work is marginally acceptable and meets basic requirements but requires substantial improvements in form and content. Student has not mastered course material at a level sufficient for advancement into more senior courses in the same or related subjects.

F grade: Course standards not met. Inadequate understanding of subject matter. Written work does not meet basic requirements. Student has not demonstrated knowledge of course material at a level sufficient for course credit.

Grading Scale

A+	96-100%	B+	80-84%	C+	67-71%	D+	54-58%
Α	90-95%	В	76-79%	С	63-66%	D	50-53%
A-	85-89%	B-	72-75%	C-	59-62%	F	0-49%

As stated in the University Calendar, it is at the instructor's discretion to round off either upward or downward to determine a final grade when the average of term work and final examinations is between two letter grades. To determine final letter grades, final percentage grades will be rounded up or down to the nearest whole percentage (e.g., 89.5% will be rounded up to 90% = A but 89.4% will be rounded down to 89% = A-)

Reappraisal of Grades

A student who feels that a piece of graded term work (e.g., term paper, essay, test) has been unfairly graded, may have the work re-graded as follows. The student shall discuss the work with the instructor within 15 days of being notified about the mark or of the item's return to the class; no reappraisal of term work is permitted after the 15 days. If not satisfied, the student shall immediately take the matter to the Head of the department offering the course, who will arrange for a reassessment of the work within the next 15 days. The reappraisal of term work may cause the grade to be raised, lowered, or to remain the same. If the student is not satisfied with the decision and wishes to appeal, the student shall address a letter of appeal to the Dean of the faculty offering the course within 15 days of the unfavourable decision. In the letter, the student must clearly and fully state the decision being appealed, the grounds for appeal, and the remedies being sought, along with any special circumstances that warrant an appeal of the reappraisal. The student should include as much written documentation as possible.

Plagiarism and Other Academic Misconduct

Intellectual honesty is the cornerstone of the development and acquisition of knowledge and requires that the contribution of others be acknowledged. Consequently, plagiarism or cheating on any assignment is regarded as an extremely serious academic offense. Plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Students should examine sections of the University Calendar that present a Statement of Intellectual honesty and definitions and penalties associated with Plagiarism/Cheating/Other Academic Misconduct.

Course Credits for Research Participation (Max 2% of final grade)

Students in most psychology courses are eligible to participate in Departmentally approved research and earn credits toward their final grades. A maximum of two credits (2%) per course, including this course, may be applied to the student's final grade. Students earn 0.5% (0.5 credits) for each full 30 minutes of participation. The demand for timeslots may exceed the supply in a given term. Thus, students are not guaranteed that there will be enough studies available to them to meet their credit requirements. Students should seek studies early in the term and should frequently check for open timeslots. Students can create an account and participate in Departmentally approved research studies at http://ucalgary.sona-systems.com. The last day to participate in studies and to assign or reassign earned credits to courses is Dec 8, 2015
